Urban Affairs Association
36th Annual Meeting

Neighborhoods and Urban Transformation: the New Global Context

Montréal, Québec
April 19–22, 2006
Urban Affairs Association

The Urban Affairs Association (UAA) is the international professional organization for urban scholars, researchers, and public service providers. UAA exists to:

- Encourage the dissemination of information about urbanism and urbanization
- Support the development of university education, research and service programs in urban affairs
- Provide leadership in fostering urban affairs as a professional and academic field

UAA includes institutional, individual, and student members from colleges and universities throughout North America, Europe, and Asia. Among its other activities, UAA sponsors the Journal of Urban Affairs, a refereed journal published five times a year by Blackwell Publishing, Inc. The Journal is a primary benefit to all UAA members and a well-respected outlet for manuscripts related to urban research and policy analysis.

Call for papers for the Journal of Urban Affairs

Deadline—July 20, 2006

Each year, an issue of the Journal of Urban Affairs is devoted to scholarship presented at the annual meeting of the Urban Affairs Association (UAA). As many as six papers presented at the 36th annual meeting of UAA in Montréal will be published in next year’s special annual meeting issue. Additional papers from the annual meeting, if accepted, will appear in another issue of the Journal. Papers submitted from the annual meeting undergo the same peer review process as other manuscripts submitted to the Journal.

One of the manuscripts submitted for the special annual meeting issue will receive the “Annual Meeting Best Paper Award.” The recipient of the award is selected by an appointed committee and presented with the award at the next annual meeting. The paper selected for this award is featured as the lead article in the annual meeting issue.

To be considered for the annual meeting issue and the Annual Meeting Best Paper Award, your manuscript must be submitted to the Journal of Urban Affairs by July 20, 2006. You may email your paper to jua@uci.edu or send five paper copies to the editors at the address below. In either case, please clearly mark the paper as an annual meeting submission.

We look forward to reviewing your paper and thank you for participating in the 36th annual meeting of the Urban Affairs Association.

Sincerely,

Victoria Basolo, Editor
Rodolfo Torres, Editor

Guidelines for Panel and Colloquy Moderators and Presenters

- Sessions are 90 minutes long. Do not wait for a crowd to form. Start promptly!
- Reserve at least 20 minutes for open discussion.
- Panelists have 12–15 minutes depending on size of panel. If a panel has five papers, each presenter has 12 minutes. If a panel has three or four papers, each presenter has 15 minutes. It is best to plan on 12 minutes regardless of the size of your panel since last minute changes in the panel could affect your allotted time. Reading of papers is not acceptable.
- Moderators are primarily responsible for introductions, keeping the time and alerting presenters of remaining minutes, and managing the open discussion period.
- If a moderator does not arrive, we ask that the first presenter take on this role.

Some Definitions

Colloquy—Formal discussion of an issue without papers. Presenters make prepared comments and engage in an open discussion with the audience.

Panel—Formal exploration of an issue through the presentation of papers followed by open discussion by presenters and the audience.

Roundtable—Informal discussion of an issue over breakfast. The discussion is open to anyone who wishes to join in and share his or her views.
Session Themes

To make your task of time management easier during the conference, we have grouped panels into broad thematic areas. As we may have inadvertently omitted some relevant panels, please do not view this listing as exhaustive of all the possible group configurations. Each session is listed by its program panel number.

Biographies of Luncheon Speaker and Plenary Panelists

Thursday Lunch, April 20, 12:15P–1:45P

Marvin Rotrand has served on the municipal council since 1982. He is vice-chair of Montreal’s transit commission and the standing commission for land-use improvement and heritage. He was formerly the Mayor’s associate councillor for democracy and worked on sustainable development issues. Between 1986 and 1990, Rotrand served on the Montreal Urban Community Public Security Commission, where he helped form the Quebec Police Ethics Committee, adopt new standards for police work, increase the hiring of visible minorities, and create a green space acquisition fund. From 1994–2001, Rotrand was vice-president of Montreal City Council’s Finance and Economic Development Commission. He served as a member of the Council’s Ethics Committee and on the Speaker’s Committee. Rotrand earned a B.A. in History from Sir George Williams University (1972), and received a Diploma in Education from McGill University (1974). The son of Holocaust survivors, he is currently president of the Bergen Belsen Survivors Association Second Generation.

Thursday Plenary Session, April 20, 4:00P–5:30P

Marc Boucher serves as a director of income security and social development with the City of Montréal. As such, he collaborates with Montreal boroughs, ministries, departments, and agencies dedicated to developing and carrying out action programs in social and community development and income security. Furthermore, he contributes to the development and implementation of public orientations, policies and strategies in relation to those programs. Boucher has extensive experience in the participation and the negotiation of agreements with the provincial government. Result oriented, he aims at fulfilling the needs of the city’s most impoverished citizens. He is responsible for the City’s integrated urban revitalization program. Boucher holds degrees in industrial relations and city management.

Claire Poitras is Associate Professor in Urban Studies at INRS-Urbanisation, Culture et Société in Montréal. Her research interests include urban and environmental history as well as heritage management and preservation. She has also conducted research on the development of new technologies in the Montréal metropolitan area (C. Poitras, 2000, La cité au bout du fil : le téléphone à Montréal de 1879 à 1930, Montréal, Presses de l’Université de Montréal) and published papers and reports on the history of Montréal’s suburban communities.

Damaris Rose, a professor at the Centre de Recherche INRS-Urbanisation, Culture et Société of the Institut National de la Recherche Scientifique since 1985, specializes in urban and social geography. Her research interests include inner-city neighbourhoods; gentrification; housing policy; urban social policy; gender and the city; immigrant settlement and social integration. Years of research on Montréal culminated in a major book co-authored with colleague Annick Germain, Montréal: The Quest for a Metropolis (Chichester, UK: John Wiley & Sons, 2000). She is affiliated with a number of research centres and networks, including Immigration et Métropoles: Montréal Inter-university Centre for Research on Immigration, Integration and Urban Dynamics, which is one of the five Centres of Excellence of the Metropolis Project, Canada. She holds a B.A. and a Ph.D. in Geography from the University of Sussex (UK) and a M.A. in Geography from the University of Toronto.
Elected as a municipal councillor in 1997, Odile Roy has worked on issues related to urban planning and development, transportation, architecture and architectural heritage at the Executive Committee of Quebec City. She has presided over the Commission d'Urbanisme et de Conservation de Québec (Quebec Commission on Urban Planning and Conservation), and the Commission Consultative sur le Schéma d'Aménagement (Advisory Commission for the Regional Master Plan) from 2001 to 2005. Roy has engaged in urban revitalization projects for the Saint-Roch neighbourhood in downtown Quebec, and the rehabilitation of the St. Charles River and its adjacent neighbourhoods. Roy holds an M.A. in architecture and has worked as an architect for 15 years. Roy taught at the Université Laval's School of Architecture (1990-2001), and currently leads an architectural design workshop.

Eric Shragge teaches in the School of Community and Public Affairs, Concordia University, Montreal, where he directs the Graduate Diploma Program in Community Economic Development. His research interests include community organizing and the processes of social change. Shragge is particularly interested in the organizing strategies of immigrant workers. His book Activism and Social Change: Lessons for Community and Local Organizing (Broadview: 2003) will soon be published in French by Editions Eco-Société. In 2006, Cape Breton Press will publish Shragge’s new book: Community Economic Development: Towards Social Change, co-edited with Mike Toye. He has been involved in many community organizations in Montreal for the past 30 years and is currently president of the boards of the Immigrant Workers' Centre and the Centre for Community Organizations.

Friday Plenary Session, April 21, 8:30a–10:00a

Jane S. Brooks, FAICP, New Orleans, LA., heads the Master of Urban and Regional Planning program at the University of New Orleans where she has been a faculty member since 1976. She established the Historic Preservation Planning concentration in this program, serves as its coordinator, and has been actively involved in community-based historic preservation activities in support of revitalizing diverse New Orleans’ neighborhoods. She has been an active member of the Executive Committee of the Louisiana Chapter APA, and she served on the Editorial Board of the Journal of the American Planning Association. In support of post-Katrina planning in New Orleans, she served as a member of the American Planning Association’s Planning Assessment Team and as a member of the Urban Design Sub-committee of the Mayor’s Bring New Orleans Back Commission. A native of New Orleans, Brooks holds degrees in landscape architecture from LSU and the Harvard University Graduate School of Design.

Ellen M. Lee serves as the Deputy Executive Assistant to the Mayor for Neighborhood Development with the City of New Orleans. She is responsible for initiatives related to neighborhood planning, provision of community services, and internal administrative functions for approximately $30 million in federal, state, and local funds used for community and economic development. Lee has served in several positions with the City prior to her current appointment, including Director of Neighborhood Development, Director of the Office of Health Policy, and Deputy Director of the Office of Federal & State Programs. Lee serves on the Board of Directors of the National Community Development Association, the New Orleans Neighborhood Development Collaborative, Unity for the Homeless, the New Orleans Regional AIDS Planning Council, and the New Orleans Workforce Investment Board. Lee is also a member of the University of New Orleans Department of Management faculty, teaching courses in business computer applications. From 1988 until 1994 she served as the Director of the College of Business Computer Installation. Lee holds a B.S. in Finance and an M.B.A. from the University of New Orleans.
Margery Austin Turner directs the Urban Institute’s Metropolitan Housing and Communities policy center. A nationally recognized expert on urban policy and neighborhood issues, Ms. Turner analyzes issues of residential location, racial and ethnic discrimination and its contribution to neighborhood segregation and inequality, and the role of housing policies in promoting residential mobility and location choice. Much of her current work investigates conditions and trends in neighborhoods across the Washington metropolitan area. Ms. Turner served as Deputy Assistant Secretary for Research at the Department of Housing and Urban Development from 1993 through 1996, focusing HUD’s research agenda on the problems of racial discrimination, concentrated poverty, and economic opportunity in America’s metropolitan areas. She has co-authored two national housing discrimination studies, which use paired testing to determine the incidence of discrimination against minority homeseekers. Turner has directed research on racial and ethnic steering, neighborhood outcomes for families who receive federal housing assistance, and emerging patterns of neighborhood diversity in city and suburban neighborhoods.

Robert K. Whelan is Freeport McMoran Professor in the College of Urban and Public Affairs at the University of New Orleans, where he has been a faculty member since 1982. He has served the college as Associate Dean and Acting Dean. His professional service includes two terms as a UAA board member. In 1990, Whelan served on the South Carolina Governor’s Commission on Emergency Management, which reviewed the state’s response to Hurricane Hugo. Whelan has been a member of the Planning and Zoning Commission of the city of Slidell, Louisiana since 1985, and has served as its chair since 1998. Whelan has authored or co-authored numerous articles and book chapters on New Orleans. His most recent research is a chapter on economic development, post-Katrina, in There’s No Such Thing as a Natural Disaster, edited by Greg Squires and Chester Hartman (Routledge, forthcoming 2006). Whelan received a B.A. in Government from Columbia University (1963), and a Ph.D. in Government and Politics from the University of Maryland (1971).
